

My Plastic Camera Donations

My Plastic Camera features lomography photographs taken with a plastic camera, namely the Holga 120N Toy Camera, depicting the trade of the paparazzo with interspersed photographs that aptly represent the craft.

Follow the author and photographer, Henry Flores, on this blog as he builds up the book with his photographs one page at a time.

Please help make his dreams a reality and help him get his book published.

Any size donation is greatly appreciated and will be placed in the honorable mentioned list on the authors websites once the book is printed.

If you make a donation of $100 and up, Henry Flores will personally sign a book with your name. We will ship it to your home and we will also put your name on the bronze list on this website thanking you once the book is printed.

If you make a donation of $200 and up, Henry Flores will personally sign two copies of the book with your name. We will ship them to your home and we will also put your name on the silver list on this website thanking you once the book is printed.

If you make a donation of $300 and up, Henry Flores will personally sign three copies of the book with your name. We will ship them to your home and we will also put your name on the gold list on this website thanking you once the book is printed.
